REPORT

Date February 6, 1978.

Film No. 171

Skull

There is no fracture or evidence of chronic increased intra-cranial pressure.

The examination is somewhat limited because [redacted] does not co-operate.

If there are any localizing neurologic signs I recommend further examination. At the Soldier's Hospital we can now offer brain scanning and midline echoencephalography. These will only contribute to his management if he can be sedate for co-operating.

Left Hip

His fracture has healed in the anatomic position. There is no suggestion of movement about the plate and nail.
