Dear Doctor;

I am writing in regard of my son [redacted] I would like to know if his condition is improving and about his health in general.

The first few times we had him home he was very quiet and shy, but lately it seems the can't control him, he seems to enjoy being mean to the other children (sisters & brother)

Maybe its because he stays at my Mother's at night when we take him home.

The reason he can't stay here is, he can't take teasing from the other children. He can't stand to see them playing or making noise.

The last time he was here he really hurt one of his little sister's. Would you tell me if he acts the same around the children he is with at the hospital, and if there is any chance of [redacted] being like other children his age, and also is there a possibility of him coming home to stay.

I would like to have him home for Xmas, he can stay at my Mother's house for the holidays.

Would it be okay to buy him an electric train for Xmas, and if so, can he take it back with him if he's allowed to come home. Its something he always wanted. Please tell.

[REDACTED] we all love him & miss him very much, and we'll try and get up to see him next Sunday.

Yours Truly

Mrs [REDACTED]

Re - [REDACTED]

Dear Mrs. [REDACTED]

In reply to your letter of November 22nd, we feel that it will be quite in order for [REDACTED] to go home for Christmas holidays. We would suggest that you pick him up on the week end of December 22nd or 23rd and keep him out for approximately one week. Please write and let us know the time and date you intend to call for him so we can have him ready to go out with you.

In general his health has been very good, and it is felt too that he is improving in his behaviour although at times he is somewhat aggressive. He still is inclined to tease others and this does get him in trouble.

Yours sincerely,

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
Acting Superintendent
