"Consultation"

This 216 yr old boy has done quite well following pin and plate fixation for a fractured (L) hip

Xray shows good position of the fracture and it is quite stable. He has been up in a chair for several days now, and may begin walking again @ any time. Perhaps this good luck arranged through physio dept @ HRC

This fracture may have been high enough on the femoral neck to cause impairment of the blood supply to the femoral head, and therefore, avascular necrosis may become a problem. In this regard Xrays @ 3 and 6 months following surgery would be helpful

Thank-you
